Who needs Pratiq ?

All industrial organizations that constantly endeavor to better its workplace as a safe, clean and healthy workplace for all its employees. Organizations that manufacture, process or use hazardous materials like petrochemicals, explosives etc., need to be doubly secure with regards to environment, health and safety practices. With increasing environmental hazards, corporate and industries are also responsible for safeguarding the environment that they operate in.

Why Pratiq ?

Software is accurate in tracking machinery inspections and generating reminders about inspections. Software tracks safety recommendations for deviations of machinery or departments, as well as accidents and near misses, and detailed employee health records. This software essentially acts as a centralized information repository between all departments, as well as an automated tool for updation of any aspect of EHS. In a highly automated environment where key accounting is run by high or mid level ERPs, often EHS issues are handled manually. Our user-friendly software fills this technological gap in your enterprise.
